Four brushes available in different size options

Brushes are made up of four different parts. Because of the shape of the brush, the difference is easy to spot. The skin of the brush is made up of a handle and a fin. The handle is where your thumb needs to be placed to hold the brush in your hand. The fin is where you drag the brush across your canvas. The four parts of a Photoshop brush Brushes are applied to the canvas by dragging the fin onto the image. Adding a stroke can be done by switching to the pen tool, selecting a brush size, and then dragging the brush fin across the canvas. Brushes are available in different size options.
